Re: Section 1502 of the Dodd-Frank Act Regarding Conflict Materials Dear Valued Customer,

As you may know, on August 22, 2012, the Securities and Exchange Commission Implemented Section 1502 of the Dodd-Frank Act, which involved certain conflict materials, including tin. Under this new rule, qualifying SEC reporting companies must make public disclosure regarding its purchase of covered materials and metals. The legislative intent was to reduce a significant source of funding for armed groups that are involved in human rights abuses and participation in the ongoing conflict within the Democratic Republic of the Congo and other adjoining areas.

At GEHR Plastics we take our regulatory obligations very seriously and want you to be aware that at the current time all of the resin we purchase conforms to the Dodd-Frank legislation. This has been confirmed by our local and international resin and raw material suppliers.

If you have further questions regarding GEHR Plastics, our products or the Dodd-Frank Act, please feel free to call me at your convenience. Thank you for your support and business throughout the years, we look forward to being your supplier of choice in the Industrial Plastics segment.

Very Truly Yours,
